

28. Make cards for a myriorama

A myriorama is a posh name for a picture cards that join together to make a big picture. Each card has some of the same common parts from the big picture, so it doesn't matter which order you put them in. There might be ten cards with the same ground and same start and ends of clouds in the sky, but otherwise, each card is different. The easiest way to do this is to use an art package to design a basic card template card then make a duplicate that for each card.

Tip: It's hard to explain but obvious when you see one, this is an example

<https://bit.ly/108F-28-1b>

